It is my prayer that you have made the same decision in your life by choosing to give your life to Jesus Christ. If not, I'd be glad to send you information to answer questions you might have. It my desire to be helpful, so just let me know if there is something I can do to help you learn more about Jesus Christ and about living the Christian life.

I am just one person in a world of billions. What an awesome thought! Yet in a crowd of so many, of what significance am I? In the sheer mass of humanity, my presence or absence is of no statistical significance. Nonetheless, I am content to live my life and let everyone live theirs. Or am I?

Actually, I am not content. I want more out of life even if it is for no other reason than to feel good about myself. I want to be content. But I have found that contentment does not come by being selfish and greedy. I find that I am happiest when helping others. I may not make much difference to the world, but I can make a world of difference to one person.

Recently, as a student at the Leadership Training Institute of America (LTIA), I have been learning valuable skills and information. LTIA is a wonderful program that immerses students into an inspiring training environment of cul-acter, and more. I am learning what makes both people and countries outstanding. I am learning why we think the way we do and how to make good decisions. I am learning what makes leaders good.

Did you know that Patrick Henry, one of our famous American forefathers, explained why America provides leadership and benefit to all people? He said, "It cannot be emphasized too strongly or too often that this great nation was founded, not by religionists, but by Christians; not on religions, but on the gospel of Jesus Christ. For this very reason peoples of other faiths have been afforded asylum, prosperity, and freedom of worship."

And U.S. President John Adams explained how any society could be the kind of safe haven anyone would love to call "home." He said, "Suppose a nation in some distant region should take the Bible for their only law book, and every member should regulate his conduct by the precepts there contained! Every member would be obliged in conscience to temperance, frugality and industry; to justice, kindness and charity towards his fellow men; and to piety, love and reverence toward Almighty God."

Many famous American founders were Christians, who recognized that Christianity was good for government as well as good for people. As you probably already recognize, the many problems we face personally and as a country is the result of not doing good. For example, news headlines are constantly telling us how someone is guilty of stealing, lying, cheating, killing, abusing, etc. The world would be a better place if everyone just lived by Biblical teachings. But few do, and so where ever there are people, there is sin. As a result, we all suffer as individuals, as families, as a country, and as a world. The Bible says that anything that is wrong or contrary to the will of God is sin. After learning that God judges sin, that hell is real, and that Jesus Christ died for my sins; I confessed my sins to Jesus, asked for His forgiveness, and surrendered my life into His hands.
